KEVIN NOLAN

SONICSKETCH

Kevin Nolan is a graduate of Multimedia in DCU and has in the past number of years worked as a designer, animator and web developer with occasional forays into music production.

Kevin's project, SonicSketch, explores alternative interfaces for music production with a particular focus on using visual arts metaphors in the design. The project is presented as a minimal web-based interface and allows users to draw sounds on the screen in a (hopefully) fun and creative manner.
